Thousand People Gathe Within the Auditorium's Walls Meetings Elsewhere-Wretche Weather in the Windy City.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] CHICAGO, Oct. 18 .- Five thousand eople, packed within the walls of the Auditorium, witnessed the formal launching of the Peace Jubilee today. It required the uncorking of six vials eloquence to make the launching a distinct success, and no vessel that ever slid down the ways was dumped into more dampness than the Peace Jubilee. A heavy drizzle that changed into rain and then back into drizzle was falling, the streets were filled with puddles of water and the cold wind blew off Lake Michigan and made walking unpleasant. Notwithstanding these obstacles, the opening of the jubilee proper was a distinct and brilliant success.

It was announced that the ceremonies would commence at 10:30 a.m., and fully an hour prior to that time the street in front of the Auditorium was packed with an immense crowd. After the doors had been thrown open, there was long wait for the speakers. Owing to a misunderstanding, in which the President had no part, it was past 11 o'clock before he entered the hall. Upon his entrance, he was escorted by the Chicago Hussars and mounted police. As the President entered the hall, his appearance was the signal for an outburst of enthusiastic cheers that lasted for several minutes.

With the President were ex-Gov. Richard J. Oglesby of Illinois, Lafayette McWilliams, President Harper of the Chicago University and Thomas B. Bryan of Chicago. A party composing Mrs. and Miss McWilliams and Miss Duncan were in the box adjoining that of the President. In the first box at the left of the stage was Gen. Miles and in the boxes next to him were the members of the various diplomatic corps. Secretary Cage was in a box in the second tier, almost directly opposite to the box of the President.

Almost immediately after the Presidential party had taken their seats, the Rev. Frank W. Gunsaulus, chaplain of the meeting, offered prayer. Chairman Charles Truax, on behalf of the Jubilee Committee, then made a short opening address and introduced George H. Peck as presiding ocer. MR. PECK'S SPEECH.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] CHICAGO, Oct. 18 .- Mr. Peck's address, which was greeted with great pplause, was as follows:

"Fellow-citizens: This great assem blage of citizens is profoundly significant of the feeling which pervades American hearts, here and everywhere. It means something more than the mere pride of conquest, for beneath the joyous exultation of victory is the deeper joy that with it has come, or is coming, a just, honorable and there fore a glorious peace. The triumphal arches that span our streets, the flags blending their colors in pictures of infinite beauty, are more eloquent than words to tell us that we live in heroic What lessons have come to us in the brief space that separates today from the spring months of this eventful year. We have learned that our own kindred can be trusted to keep unsullied their heritage from the fathers. We have learned that courage and faith can still lead men up slippery heights, if only their country's flag and their country's honor go with them. We have learned that under a tropical sun, fighting against all the elements that make up the unspeakable savagery of war in the jungle, American valor still rests serenely upon its own undaunted heart. learned that the American soldier, regular and volunteer, white and black, worthy of the uniform he wears and the cause that was given into his

"We have heard, and all the world has heard, how Dewey saluted the morning in the far-off Orient and lighted up the hazy waters of Manila with such a sunrise as they had never seen before. We have known a Fourth of July made more glorious by the tidings that came, telling us how Sampson and Schley and Clark and Evans and Philip and Wainwright and the brave sailors behind the guns and on the decks and down where the furnace fires were fiercely burning fell upon the leviathans of Spain and sent them to their doom almost in the twinkling of an eye. The army and navy, two arms of that mighty giant, the American nation, have in equal measures struck unceasingly for the honor of their country and the cause of a common humanity which, in its highest sense, means universal justice.

"One name, in the midst of all this pageantry, is in your thoughts, and your hearts speak out before my lips can utter it: William McKinley, our President. You know him, for what he is, wise, patient, kindly, generous, calmly judging what is right, and th highest statesmanship. Now he surely knows, as he meets his countryme face to face, that the people always trust the leader who trusts his own conscience and theirs. We cannot yet say that all dangers are past. Son storms may come, some waves roll high about. But we know a brave, strong hand 'will hold the rudder true.' "Six months ago we welcomed war in the thoughtful, solemn spirit which befits an appeal to the sword. Today we welcome peace and all its blessings. We have given good lives for it, and every life makes it more precious. Victory has come to us in fullest measure. We have won ships and cannon and forts and arsenals. Cities have opened their gates and islands in both hemispheres have welcomed the arms and institution of freedom. But the greatest prize we have won, in its consequences to us as a people, is the su preme victory which North and South have won over each other. Long ago all sensible and patriotic people in both sections knew that the hour would ome. Today we hail it in the assured faith that henceforth we march together to the same music under the same flag, and to the same destiny.

Verily, this is the year of jubilee." After Mr. Peck had finished, he introduced Mayor Harrison, who delivered the formal address of welcome to President McKinley, and the strangers who had come to Chicago to witness the ceremonies of jubilee week. The Presient, who received a most enthusiastic welcome as he entered the building nade no formal reply to the addresse of welcome, notwithstanding loud calls for a speech. Following the address of Mayor Harrison, Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul spoke.

ARCHBISHOP'S ADDRESS. Archbishop Ireland, who spoke for the North, said:

"Mr. President, ladies and gentlemer -War has passed, peace reigns. Stilled over the land and sea is the clang of rms. From San Juan to Manila, fearless and triumphant, floats the Star Spangled Banner. America 'Be glad and repjoice; for the Lord hath done great things;' America, with whole heart and soul, celebrate thy jubilee of peace.

Wire Communication Partially Re stored-Storm Area Covers also Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, South Dakota, Kansas and Nebraska.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] KANSAS CITY (Mo.,) Oct. 18 .-Freezing weather has followed yesterday's storm of rain and snow in Misourl, Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska in many places. A strong wind still blows causing more or less damage. Wire communication, so badly demoralized in the North and West, has been only partially restored. At most places, as far as ascertained today, the snow ceased falling about midnight last night when the thermometer began to drop. The wet snow of the past twenty-four hours had wrought havoc with the wires, trees and country roads. Last night, as it began to get cooler, communication with Topeka, Wichita, Guthrie and Denver, shut off for fifteen hours, was opened. This morning, however, the freezing snow had caked on the wires and again made the wire service uncertain. At 10 a.m. Topeka and Denver were reached imperfectly. Wichita has been lost again and Omaha is almost as completely shut off as it was twenty-

Only brief news of suffering on the open prairies where stock is known to be unprotected, has been received, but enough to say that great damage to cattle will result.

Local Observer Conner says: "The storm area, central yesterday over Missouri, has moved but little, being central this morning near Davenport Iowa. Its progress is toward northnortheast. At 7 a.m. rain was falling in Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri and Illinois, and snow in South Dakota, Eastern Nebraska, extreme Northeast Kansas and Western Missouri. The weather was clear in the west half of Kansas and Nebraska, in Oklahoma and in the South and Southwest. Frost occurred last night in Northern Texas and extended to the northwest corner

JOHN CRISP'S DAUGHTERS DE-TAINED AT NEW YORK.

They Fled from Their Pasadena Home to Scotland to Get Away to Start for Edinburgh They Dodged Back.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ella M. Crisp, 19 years of age, and her sister, Jessie H. Crisp, aged 17, who arrived today as secondcabin passengers on the steamship Anchoria from Scotland, are delayed at the Barge Office. They are dose prisoners, and special instructions have been given to the immigration officials that the girls are to be prevented from communicating with persons on the outside. Their detention is the result of a complaint recently made to Commissioner Fitchie, by John Crisp, formerly of Pasadena, Cal., who alleges that his daughters are wayward and incorrigible.

According to the story that Crisp told the commissioner, the girls left him without any cause whatever, and the next he heard of them, they were living with an uncle in Edinburgh, Scotland. On account of the misbehavior of his daughters, Crisp says, he gave up his business and decided to re-turn to Scotland, which is his native place. Finding that on his arrival there the girls would return to the United States so as to escape from him, Crisp asked that a close watch of incoming vessels be kept for them. this was the cause of detention yesterday.

The girls are refined and well dressed. Ella, who has rather a sweet face, Ella, who has rather a sweet face, is said to have great influence over her younger sister. Gen. Brooke Reports Occupation of the Island Complete.

Citizenship Question Yet to Be Settled-The Work of the Commissioners at Paris-Sovereignty and the Cuban Debt.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN JUAN DE PORTO RICO, Oct. 8.- [By West Indian Cable.] Promptly at noon today the American flag was raised over San Juan. The ceremony was quiet and dignified, unmarred by disorder of any kind. The Eleventh Regiment, Infantry, with two batteries of the Fifth Artilery, landed this morning. The latter roceeded to the forts, while the infantry lined up on the docks. It was a hot day for San Juan, and there were many people in the streets. Rear-Admiral Schley and Gen. Gordon, accompanied by their staffs, proceeded to the palace in carriages. The Eleventh Infantry and band with Troop H of the Sixth United States Cavalry then marched through the streets and ormed in the square opposite the pal-

At 11:4 o'clock Gen. Brooke, Admiral Schley and Gen. Gordon, the United States evacuation commissioners, came out of the palace with many naval officers, and formed on the right side of the square. The streets behind the soldiers were thronged with townspeople, who stood waiting in dead sil-

At last the city clock struck the hour of 12, and the crowds, almost breathless and with eyes fixed upon the flagpole, watched for developments. At the sound of the first gun from Fort Moro, Maj. Dean and Lieut. Castle, of Gen. Brooke's staff, hoisted the Stars and Stripes, while the band played the Star Spangled Banner. All heads were bared, and the crowds cheered. Fort Moro, Fort San Cristobal and the United States revenue cutter Manning, lying in the harbor, fired twenty-one guns Señor Munoz Rivera, who was each. president of the recent autonomist ouncil, and the secretaries and other officials of the late insular government, were present at the proceedings.

Congratulations and handshaking among the American officers followed. Ensign King hoisted the Stars and Stripes on the Intendencia, but other flags on the various public buildngs were hoisted by military officers. Simultaneously with the raising of the flag over the captain-general's palace, many others were hoisted in different parts of the city.

The work of the United States evacuation commissioners is now over, and their reports will be form Washington on Thursday next. The labors of both parties have terminated with honors for all concerned. American commissioners worked without the least delay, and in the most thorough and effective manner.

PONCE CELEBRATES.

Gen. Henry's Speech at the Formal Surrender.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.1 PONCE, Oct. 18.-[By West Indian Cable.] Today's celebrations in connec tion with the formal surrender of the island of Porto Rico, were as had been expected, most enthusiastic. After the parade, the bands and various organizations went to Gen. Henry's headquarters to be introduced to him. Gen. Henry, in the course of a brief speech,

"Alcalde and citizens: Today the flag of the United States floats as an emblem of undisputed authority over the island of Porto Rico, giving promise of protection to life, of liberty, prosperity and right to worship God in accordance with the dictates of conscience.

"Your future destiny rests largely with yourselves. Respect the rights of each other, do not abuse the government which accords opportunities to the individual for advancement. Present animosities must be forgotten in unity, and in the recognition of common interests.

"Today destiny has written the last page of Spanish dominion in Porto Rico, and the prolegue by the entrance of the noble American republic States. Porto Rico has not accepted American dominion on account of force. Therefore, she came willingly and freely, hoping, hand in hand with the greatest of all republics, to advance in civilization and progress, and to come part of the republic to which we pledge our faith forever." The town was profusely decorated with American flags.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 .- In view o the fact that at noon today, with the quisition of the island of Porto Rico by the United States, about 800,000 in habitants of that island lost their Spanish citizenship, the question as to what shall become of these people politically becomes of importance.

Madrid advices report that leading citizens of Porto Rico have already taken steps to become naturalized as United States citizens. This is an error, for existing laws provide no way in the change of citizenship can be effected by the residents of the island. There is no United States court there before which a declaration of inten-tion can be filed, and, in fact, no machinery at all which can be put in motion to change citizenship.

Inquiry into this subject at the State Department discloses the fact that it been usual to provide a bodily transfer of the citizenship of people conditioned as those in Port Rico in the treaty of peace which terminates a war. It may be prudent for the commission at Paris to avoid any reference to Porto Rico again, in which case Congress will be called upon by the President to confer citizenship upon the Porto Ricans in the same act as that which must be passed to provide a stable form of government for the

Should either of these courses be found impracticable, it is said at the department that international law in its operation would confer American citizenship upon these Porto Ricans, the general principle being that where a treaty of cession is silent upon the subject, citizenship changes with the

THROUGH FRENCH SPECTACLES [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] PARIS, Oct. 18 .- The Gaulois review yesterday's session of the joint peace mmissions, and, referring to the delay caused by differences in the lan-gauge spoken by the commissioners,

"But according to the Spaniards, the main cause of the difficulty encoun-tered in the negotiations is the lack of concination in the attitude of the or concination in the attitude of the American commission. It is known in regard to Porto Rico and Cuba that the articles of the protocol are abso-lutely positive—Spain concedes Porto Rico to the United States and relinquishes and abandons sovereignty over Cuba. These two points are definitely settled and are not open to discussion. Besides, the Spaniards make it a point of honor to scrupulously abide by their engagements toward their conquerers, "The question of the Cuban debt remains. Upon which power should the pherous obligation of guaranteeing the debt rest? Here is where the two com-missions differ in their views, and neither is inclined to yield. The Span-iards agree on the following lines:

neither is inclined to yield. The Spanlards agree on the following lines:

"When a power annexes territory, it is implied that it assumes all obligations previously of such territory.
It is international law, sanctioned by usage and which always has been compiled with. Thus, when France annexed Savoy, she assumed all the debts contracted by the latter while still an Italian province.

"Lastly, they remind their opponents that Cuba is virtually the key of the Gulf of Mexico, a strategic position of the first order to the United States, and an immense advantage, which calls for some sacrifice upon the part of the Americans.

"To this the latter replied at first

To this the latter replied at first that they could not listen to any discussion of the matter of the debt being under formal instructions from their government. But on the Spanisn commission insisting and in the presence of its very firm attitude; not that they entertain the intention of yielding to Spain's injunction, they continue to argue against the Spanish position. These arguments may be briefly summed up as follows:

"The Americans insist upon the fact that the money raised by the Cuban loans was not applied to the requirements or interests of the island, but was chiefly borrowed to the end of improving the financial condition of Spain and to procure funds which she could no longer raise in the peninsula, and which debt therefore is personal to Spain. On the other hand, the Americans say that America has no intention of annexing Cuba, and therefore could not assume such obligations.

"Finally it is held that, owing to the fabulous cost of the late war, the American people would not concede the right to thus assume such obligations."

Capt. C. V. Baker, chief quartermaster, was also examined during the afternoon session. He was followed by Col. Curtis Guild, Jr., inspector-general of the corps. He was also unable to recall—any case in which there had been any suffering in a hospital on account of neglect. Col. Curtis, in an official report, had expressed the opinion that one attendant to six patients was not sufficient, and he said this opinion was based upon the inflamed condition of the public mind, but he believed, as a rule, the attendants could not give the proper attention.

Asked, if he was still of the opinion that there was heavy shortage of supplies for the sick, he said he had changed his opinion somewhat, as he had since learned that. steps might have been taken to secure government supplies, but he was still of the opinion that there would have been delay.

securities will retain their validity. The proposition, alleged to have been made yesterday by the Spanish Commissioners, to surrender to the United States the entire Philippne group rather than that Spain should be held responsible for the Cuban debt did not take the officials here by surprise. It was recognized immediately as only another phase of the Spanish effort to connect the Philippines and Cuba in some way in the negotiations. The American commissioners at the beginning refused to permit any such association, holding that each subject treated in the protool must be dealt with separately, and n order, and so far as the State De-artment knows, they have not changed

While it is realized in official circles that the negotiations in Pars have reached what probably will be the most critical point to be passed over until the commission is face to face with the question as to what disposition shall be made of the Philippine Islands, there is an abiding confidence that the Spanish commissioners will not oblige the Americans to resort to extreme measures, and that the negotiations will proceed with greater expedition from this point.

SPANISH PEACE COMMISSION GETS AN ULTIMATUM. Members Must Make Up Their Minds by Thursday Night-Two Impor-tant Notes at Havana-Berkeley

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] NEW YORK. Oct. 19.-[Exclusive Dispatch.] The latest information from Paris this morning is that the Spanish Peace Commissioners are "up to it" in other words, they have been given an ultimatum as to time in which to make their decision, and that the limit as regards the evacuation of Cuba on American demands, shall extend only until sunset Thursday evening. Furthermore, the United States is not to assume or guarantee even a single dollar of the so-called Cuban University Plans.

TWO IMPORTANT NOTES. Today the Spanish commission at Havana will deliver two very important otes to the Americans. One will no tify them that Blanco has already issued orders for the evacuation of the Jucaro-Moron trocha and the concentration of troops at Cienfuegos for embarkation for Spain. The Spanish note will add that the good offices of the Americans are requested to prevent the insurgent bands from attacking the Spanish troops evacuating the trocha, because if the insurgents do attack them the Spaniards will repulse the attack by force.

The other note, which will be delivered, will ask for the friendly interference of Americans with the insurgents to prevent conflicts with the troops in towns still held by the Spaniards The ote will especially point out the establishment of an insurgent military hospital in the city of Cienfuegos.

SPANISH DEALING FAIRLY. It would seem unfair to charge the Spaniards with double-dealing, and Americans place no confidence in the reports from Paris that Sagasta has ordered Blanco not to evacuate Cuba until the Philippine question is settled. Americans point to the coreplete plans of Cuba's defences placed in their hands by Blanco, as cabled yesterday, as evidence of honorable in-entions. More than that Spanish troops are evacuating the islands as rapidly as possible, considering the ships at their command. The Americans first as sumed control of Santiago, and since then the evacuation has been going on from east to west. Havana will be the last point under Spanish control.

Many influential Spaniards are re ported at Havana to believe that Cuba fill be forced to accept annexation because of jealousies among the leaders of the insurgents, who aspire to ower. So long as the situation was desperate, and fraught with dangers jealousies were few. Now cliques are forming, which threaten to plunge Cuba into immediate anarchy, unless the United States intervenes. BERKELEY UNIVERSITY FUND. J. B. Reinstein, regent of the Univer city of California, and who represented the institution at Antwerp in the competition of plans for the erection of at least two buildings by Mrs. Phoebe A. It was impossible, he said, to state how much money would be required, but the State of California had set aside $1,000,000 for the buildings. CUBAN CONVENTION. Gen. Garcia sailed for Santa Cruz del Sur, yesterday, from Santiago de Cuba, to attend a meeting of the Cuban convention, delegates to which wer elected by the revolutionary party month ago, in pursuance to the instruc ions of the provisional government a Camaguey. He is accompanied by his son. Capt. Garcia; Brig.-Gen. Portuondo and Cols. Eduardo, Arango and Valiente. Extreme Republicans control the convention, and they may attempt to carry their wishes into effect. Garcia said yesterday that he is de termined to go before the convention with a Conservative proposition in spite of the opposition of enemies among the Redicals. He would qualify as a dele gate to Havana district if he could not get into convention by othe means. Conservatives who favor the continu ance of the present American rule will suggest the enactment of a measure disbanding the Cuban army and send-ing the troops quietly home to await the general election, to be held when the Americans believe the time ripe to give Cubans a chance to govern themselves. The friends of Gen. Lacet and other extreme Radical leaders declare the convention will elect a government, appoint officers for various parts of the island, and call on the Americans to declare specifically what they intend to do.

One of the things Garcia will tell the convention is that the Americans will never recognize any legislative body in Cuba that does not represent all classes, and nothing done by a convention elected by Cuban soldiers and citizens in the districts held by soldiers will have weight with Washington.

Good authority says there is likely to be the biggest kind of a row at Santa Cruz. It is believed that a division between the friends and enemies of Garcia will occur as soon as the convention assembles. The delegates will spend so much time in quarreling that they will not be able to attend to much business.

ROCHEFORT GONE CRAZY Henri Rochefort of Paris is believed to have gone crazy over the Dreyfus agitation. It is reported that the decision of the Court of Cassation that Mme. Dreyfus's lawyer shall see the Dreyfus dossler has caused Rochefort to demand in his paper, L' Intransigeant, that the members of the Court of Cassation, having been previously drawn up in sigle file, an executioner duly trained to the work should cut off their eyelids so as to leave the eyeballs denuded, and then spiders of the most venemous kind should be inclosed in nutshells and applied to the eyeballs, being properly fastened behind the culprits' heads. These spiders, in a famished condiion, would slowly and gradually feed on the culprits' eyeballs, and nothing but ghastly cavities remain. This done, these hideous blind men should be chained to a pillory erected before the Palais de Justice, and on their chests a placard should be affixed bearing the "Thus does France punish traitors who attempt to sell her to the enemy.' MERRITT TO MARRY.

It is understood Gen. Wesley Merritt, who arrived at London from Paris yesterday, will be married in Paris during the course of the present week. It is said that his intended wife, Miss Laura Williams of Chicago, is already in London. The wedding will be in the strictest privacy. A correspondent who saw Gen. Merritt at his hotel yesterday, and asked him the purpose of his visit to London, was told: "I am here to meet ome friends, and will return to Paris within a week."

Gen. Merritt's aide refused to say anything about the marriage or admit that it was impending. C. E. HARRINGTON.

GRAHAM AND SPRECKELS. Allegations of Defaulted Interest

Met by Charges of Fraud. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—R. A. Sraham has filed a vigorous answer Graham has filed a vigorous answer to the suit commenced against him some time ago by the J. D. Spreckels horrowed $623,-& Bros. Co. Graham borrowed $523,-162.52 from the Spreckels, executing a promissory note therefor, bearing the date of November 1, 1897.

date of November 1, 1897.

The note bore interest at 6 per cent. per annum, payable monthly, and in security was given a pledge of shares of stock and a mortgage on real propercy in Oregon. Foreclosure on the mortgage was attempted, an allegation being made that Graham had defaulted in the payment of interest for April and May last, the sum amounting to $231.62.

In his answer, Graham admits the execution of the note, but denies that he has defaulted in the payment of the interest. He asserts that payment was tendered the corporation, but that the offer was refused. Graham further denies the authority of the plaintiff to bring suit. He makes claim that the mortgage security being in Oregon, no jurisdiction lies with California courts. The most sensational part of Graham's answer is in the nature of a cross-complaint, alleging he is the victim of fraud. Therefore he asks judgment against the Spreckels for $750,000 damages. He demands also the return of shares of stock in the Beaver Hill Coal Company and a policy of insurance the company holds as security. In the event that delivery cannot be made, Graham asks that the notes against him then be declared void. The note bore interest at 6 per cent.

energy, tasking science to its utmost ingenuity and multitudes of men to their utmost endurance, whole nations work day and night, fitting themselves for the quick and extensive killing of men. This preparation is for war. Arms met on the field of battle; shot and shell rend the air; men fall to the ground like leaves in autumnal storm, bleeding, agonizing, dyins; the earth is reddened by human blood; the more gory the earth beneath the red of the arms, the louder revel of victory in the ranks of the other. This, the actual conflict of war, from North to South, from East to West, through

Let the life of a nation or its territory be menaced; let the honor of a nation be assaulted; let there be a grievous crime against humanity perpetrated within reach of a nation's flag or a nation's arm, reiterated appeals or argument and diplomacy falling, what else remains to a nation, which is not so base as to court death or dishonor, but to challenge the fortunes of war and give hattle while strength remains in we go to war we send to it the best and bravest of the country. These words spoken a few days ago by the Chief Magistrate of America, embody a great principle of American political life.

Six months ago the Congress of the United States declared that United States declared that in the name of humanity, war should be waged in order to give to the island of Cuba a stable and independent government.

Magnificent patriotism of

we had a North and a South; when Americas spoke we knew we were but one people, that all were Americans. It was understood that social and economic lines were hopelessly dividing the American people, and that patriotism was retreating before the froth of class-interests and class prejudices. But when America spoke there was no one in the land who was not an American; the laborer dropped his harmore, the laborer dropped his harmore; the farmer turned from his plow; the merchant forgot his counting-room; the millionaire closed the door of his mansion, and side by side, equal in their love of country and their resolve to serve her, they marched to daager and to death. America can nevit doubt the we of country and their resolve to erve her, they marched to danger and death. America can never doubt the ited loyalty of her population nor the wer which such united loyalty puts in her hands.

"And what may I not say in eulogy of the sentiment of humanity that I mention with their patriotism, which wayed the hearts of the American peo-ple and in their vision invested the wayed the hearts of the American people and in their vision invested the war with the halo of highest and most sacred duty to fellow-men. I speak of the great multitude of the American people. They had been told of dire suffering by a neighboring people; struggling for peace and liberty; they believed that only through war could they acquit themselves of the sacred duty of rescuing the people from their sufferings. I state a broad, undenlable fact. The dominating, impelling motive of the war, in the depths of the national heart of America was the sentiment of humanity. The people of America offered their lives through no ordid ambition of pecuniary gain, of sonquest, of territory, of national agrandisement. Theirs was the highborn ambition to succor fellow-men. "What strength and power America was found to possess? When war was icclared so small was her army, so mail her navy, that the thought of war coming upon the country afrighted for the moment her own citiens, and excited the derisive smiles of oreigners. Of her latent resources no loubt was possible, but what was needed to utilize them: and meanwhile untilistion was possible. The Presient waved his wand; instantly an army and navy were created as if by magic. Within a few weeks a quarter of million men were formed into regments, vessels of war and transport hips were covering the seas; upon sater and upon land, battles were ournt and great victories won; from a side of the globe to the other. I mow not of similar feats in history. What if in this bewildering rush of a within the product of the national administration, a shie to put in a moment its of upon details which a thoroughly-unded equipment required? The neader is that the things that were e and in their vision invested the ar with the halo of highest and most done, could at all have been done, and that what was done so quickly could have been done so well.

"The wonder is that this sudden creation of such vast military forces was possible even for America. What intellect, what skill in execution were displayed by soldiers and seamen. By men and officers. Magnificent the sweep of Dewey's squadron into Manila Harbor. Magnificent the broadsides from Sampson upon Cervera's flying ships. Magnificent the charge of regiments of regalar infantry, and of Roosevelt's riders up the hills of El Caney. Never daunted, never calculating defeat, every man determined to die or conquer, every man knowing his duty, and now to do it—the soldiers and seamen of America were invincible. Spanish fleets and Spanish armies vanished before them as mist before the morning sun; the nation stood amazed by such quick and decisive troops, and what Americans had done and what they now understood they could do.

"The war is ended. It would ill become me to say what details shall enter into the treaty of peace which America is concluding with her vanquished foe. I stand in the presence of the Chief Magistrate of the republic. To him it belongs by right of official position and of personal wisdom to prescribe those details. The country has learned from the acts of his administration that to his patriotism, his courage, his prudence, she may well confide her safety, her honor, her destiny, her peace. Whatever the treaty with Spain, America will be pleased when appended to this treaty is the

"What I may speak of on this occasion is results of the war, manifest even in this hour to America and to the world, transcending and independent of all treaties of peace, possessing for America and for the world a meaning far mightier than mere accumulaing far mightier than mere accumula tion of material wealth, or commercial concessions, or territorial extension. To do great things, to meet fitly great must be conscious of its dignity and its power. The consciousness of what she is and what she may be, has come to America. She knows that she is a great nation. The elements of great they were revealed to her by the war, and their vitality and significance were increased through the war. To take its proper place among the other nations of the earth, a nation must be known as she is, to those nations. The world, today, as never before, knows and confesses the great power of America. All this does not nappen by chance or accident. An all-ruling Providence directs the movements of humanity. What we witness is a momentous dis-pensation from the Master of Men. "America is too great to be isolated from the world around her and beyond her. She is a world power, to whom the Old World interest is alien. Whose voice reaches afar, whose spirit travels across seas and mountain ranges, to most distant continents and islands—and with America wees far and ritory or American shipping or American soldier. The people of the United States at once arose in their might. They argued not, they hesitated not; America had spoken; theirs was not to judge but to obey. In a moment the money of America, the lives of America, were at the disposal of the Chlef Magistrate of the nation, whose sole embarrassment was the too generous response to his appeal for means to bring victory to the Nation's flag.

"America had spoken, partisan politics, sectional disputes instantly were stilled beneath the majesty of her volce. Oft had it been whispered that we had a North and a South; when America, spoke we knew we were hit they came through war, we must admit; but that they came through war, and not through the methods of peaceful justice, we must ever regret. When otherwork the most off war that its purpose is justice; but is it worthy of Christian civilization that there is no other way to justice than war, that nations are forced to stoop to the nethods of the sufferings and carnage which were their price. We say in defiance of war that its purpose is justice; but is it worthy of Christian civilization that there is no other way to justice than war, that nations are forced to stoop to the nethods of the animal and the savage? That was well individuals gave battle to one another in the act of justice, it was the time of social barbarism. Tribunals

I look forward to an epoch when a court, recognized by all nations, will settle international differences instead of keeping large standing armies, as they do in Europe.' Shall we not allow the words of Gen. Grant to go forth as the message of America?
"Some weeks ago the Czar of the Russias said:' The maintenance of general peace and the possible reduction of the excessive armaments which weigh upon all nations present themselves in the existing condition of the whole world as an ideal toward which the endeavors of all governments should be directed.' And it was with those views that he invited all nations to send representatives to an international Peace Congress, in which the question of reducing the armaments of the several countries of the world, and otherwise preparing some plan for the prevention of wars might be discussed.

"The Czar is moved by the miseries accompanying war and by the discussers." "America's great soldier who said, Though I have been trained as a solbattles, there never was a time when at the battles, there never was a time when accompanies and the battles, there are the said of sunday of swords. "Shall not America send to St. Petersburg a message of good will, a promise of earnest cooperation? America, great and powerful, can afford to speak of peace. Words of peace from her will be the more gracious and timely, as those who do not know say, that maddened by her recent friumph, she is now committed beyond return to a policy of militarism and of conquest. The proposal was once made for the establishment of a board of arbitration, to which all disputes between England and America should be referred. Better, if possible, that a Universal Board of Aribtration be established for the estellement of quarrels of nations. The proposal for the establishment of such a board would give no occasion for jeal-ousy or suspicion, and the ideal of humanity, universal peace, would plainly be the goal of effort.

"Lead, my country, in peace—in peace for thyself, in peace for the world. When war is necessary, lead, we pray thee in war; but when peace is possible, lead, we pray thee yet more, lead in peace; lead in all that makes for peace, that prepares the world for peace. "In art the Spaniard has not been less famous, as is evidenced in the royal collection of Madrid, in venerable cathedrals of Seville, in the Louvre, and in the London National Gallery. Many a stately poet, many a priestly chronicler attest the genius of Spanish literature. The admirable attributes of Spanish character nowhere have found warmer appreciation than with our own countrymen. What Prescott did for the statecraft and stern martial renown of the Spaniards, Washington Irving, with melodious prose and gentle humor, surpassed in his kindly portraval of Spanish character. Yet Spanish policy has ever been insidiously and persistently inimical to the American people.

"We all know how, in 1492, His Holiness Alexander VI published a bulletin by which he assigned to Spain all discoveries lying west of an imaginary line, a hundred leagues to the westward of the Cape Verde Islands. With this high authority the Spanish chivalry embarked on a crusade more daring, if less unselfish, than that which has carried the knighthoodf of Christendom to the battles of Zion. And what a embarked on a crusade more daring, if less unselfish, than that which has carried the knighthoodf of Christendom to the battles of Zion. And what a marvelous colonial empire was added to the Spanish crown by their combined heroism, avarice and religious zeal. All of South America, save Brazil and the Guianas, all Central America, Mexico, the entire territory west of the Mississippi, now embraced by the United States, beautiful Cuba, the fertile meadows of Porto Rico, and the Floral Empire of Florida.

"But this was not all of Spain's magnificent domain. From across the waters of the South Pacific was the now famous cluster of islands bearing the name of the Spanish King. And from their great city sailed the famous Manial fleet, huge gallions loaded to the gunwales with the silken and the golden wealth of the Orient. Where are her colonies now? No race outside of her own borders, even if Spanish by origin, has ever been able to endure her reign, and every race which has resisted her will be ultimately succeeded in withdrawing from her control.

"In the mean time the Americans, as

Contrast the character of the average American citizen with that of the Spaniard. How incompatible in temperament. The incompatible in temperament. The conduct of the Spaniards towards us in the war of 1812 demonstrates how dangerous it is to the future peace of our country to have them as neigh or our country to have them as neigh-bors. Ostensibly neutral, their pres-ence in Florida was a constant menac-and occasioned some of the most tragi-incidents of our history. Four year later, after the Seminole war, the Spanish King determined that it was discrete to sell his Florida possessions to the young republic, who had given him such convincing evidences of their ability to take them, and, though unde ability to take them, and, though under strong provocation in restoring them, had also given to the world a lofty example of their respect for inter-national law.

"The Spaniards now had no foothold on the mainland of the North American continent, save their Mexican posses-sions. Nor were these to be long re-tained. The genus of library nutured tained. The genius of liberty, nutured and strengthened here, soon winged its way to the southward. In 1818 Buenos Ayres had declared its independence. Uruguay and the shore of La Plata was in revolt. The movement traversed the passes of the Andes and animated the people of Peru and Chile. Venezuela and the northern portion of South American rallied to the banner of freedom, and finally when, in 1822, the heroic Bolivar, the South American Washington, in pitched battle, destroyed the Spanish army and gave a death blow to Spanish power, the American Congress recognized the independence of Buenos Ayres, Chile, Peru and Colombia.

"The first to recognize the Infant republics, our government took its favorite and accustomed post in the vanguard of liberty. The opulence of Argentina, the military power and national pride of Chile, the minerals, the marbles, the fruits, the grains, the flocks and ordered regenerated strength of Mexico, the marvelous increment to the commerce of the world, the boundless possibilities for the support of millions of men in the redeemed colonies of Spain, persuade us that the salls of Heaven have approved the aspirations and strengthened here, soon winged and strengthened here, soon winged and to the southward. When, therefore, the absolutism of the holy alliance, not content with smothering a feeble spark of liberty in Spain, iniated a joint movement of their arms against the. Spanish-American republics, it gave the people of our country the gravest concern. In the mean time our relations with Great Britain had been growing more cordial. That they may grow ever stronger and more cordial should be the prayer of every man of the English-speaking race. An unspeakable blessing to mankind of the struggle from which we are now emerging, is the genuine brotherly sympathy of the people of the United States flowing from that land. And it is returned in great measure. But a few months ago the flagship of Admiral Deweysteamed slowly into the battle line at Manila. As she passed the British flagship Commoralite, its band rang out the inspiring air: 'See, the Conquering Hero Comes,' and as the gorgeous ensign of the nation was flung to the breeze at the peak of the Olympia, there then came thrilling over the waters from our kinsmen's ship the martial strains of 'The Star Spangled Banner.'

"Certain it is that we also had the sympathy of the entire country when.

"Certain it is that we also had the sympathy of the entire country when, in 1823, it became necessary to call a halt to the holy alliance. Then it was that President Monroe announced that famous doctrine which bears his name. It was expressed in his own tongue. It admonished the holy alliance 'that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety.' The logical result of this doctrine, as has been developed in our subsequent internaof the American people to terminate the Spanish atrocities in Cuba, peaceablif we could, forcibly if we must.

of the American people to terminate the Spanish atrocities in Cuba, peaceably if we could, forcibly if we must.

"Experience has shown that they could not be made, save by a strong display of force. This would not be made by any of the great European powers, except for a substantial equivalent in Cuba. The Monroe doctrine had forbidden this. Then the duty was on us in the sight of God and man, to stay the unholy policy, which, as demonstrated before the Senate committee had in one year resulted in the starvation of 200,000 men, women and children, and this within half a day's sail from our shores. To this purpose our President devoted every expedient of his resourceful nature, every considerate representation, and all the gentle magnanimity that a Christian heart could suggest, and all in vain. "Finally, when our gallant seamen, renosing in fancied security, by the scorching blast of the treacherous explosion were cruelly and remorselessly slain, and calm investigation had developed the truth, we had been despicable on the historic page had we not appealed to the god of battles for retribution. The pious rage of seventy millions of people cried aloud to heaven for the piteous agony, for the shameful slaughter of our brethren, and our noble navy was swiftly speeding to its duty. Let the waters of the Orient as they moan through the shell-riven wrecks at Cavite, the booming wave of the Caribbean, as fathoms deep it sweeps over the Pluton and the Furor, and break into spray on the shapeless and fire-distorted steel of the Vizcaya and the Oquendo, tell how the navy has paid our debt to Spain.

THE PRESIDENT. At the conclusion of Judge Speer's address, which concluded the programme, there were loud calls of "Mc-Kinley! McKinley." The President had turned, and was just about to leave the box, but he turned and came back to the front. He waited for a moment until ex-Gov. I have been deeply touched by the words of patriotism that have been uttered by the distinguished gentlemen so solemnly in your presence. It is gratifying to all of us to know that this has never ceased to be a war of humanity. The last ship that went out of the harbor of Havana before war was declared was an American ship that had taken to the suffering people of Cuba the supplies furnished by American charity. (Applause.) And the first ship to sail into the harbor of Santiago was another American ship bearing food supplies to the suffering Cubans. (Applause.) I am sure it is the universal prayer of American citizens that justice and humanity and civilization shall characterize the final settlement of peace as they have distinguished the progress of the war. During the afternoon, five meetings were held in different parts of the city. A large meeting at Studebaker Hall was addressed by Albert J. Beveridge Northrup of the University of Minnesota. he Tuskogee, Ala., institute, said in part:

"If there is one class of our citizens that has a right to rejoice more than another over the outcome of our recent war, it is the American negro. You know he could clear your forests, mine your coal, build your railroads and raise your rice, cotton, and sugar cane—yes, more cotton than the world can consume, but you doubted whether or not he could be depended upon to fight for liberty, to defend the honor and safety of this republic. At Santiago and El Caney you trusted the negro with the highest interests of the country. Did he disappoint you in enduring the heat and fever? Did he disappoint you in the use of the bullets and the sword? As we measured up to the highest test of manhood at every point where we were trusted in connection with the Sanaish American every point where we were trusted in connection with the Spanish-American war, in the same degree we can be depended upon to defend and preserve the highest interests of this country, whether in war or in peace."

Further on he said:
"My friends, as we see peace, let us learn this: That God has been teaching the Spanish nation a terrible lesson—that no nation can disregard the interests of any portion of its members without that nation growling weak and corrupt. Though the penalty may have been long delayed, God has been teaching Spain that for every one of her subjects left in ignorance, poverty and crime, the price must be paid; and if it has not been paid with the very heart of the nation, it has been paid with the proudest and bluest blood of her sons and with treasure beyond computation. From this spectacle I pray God that America will learn a lesson in respect to the 8,000,000 negroes in the South. Amidst the excitement, the glamor, the interest, the deeds of heroism that have clustered around our war, let us not forget that there is a condition in the southern part of our country that will demand our deepest thought and the most generous help for years to come."

In the course of his speech, Gen.

Miles said:

that it is not to me, except in a very small degree, that this credit is due. It is to the gallant army I commanded.

"At the close of the war they had the advantage that they had been tried by fire and knew what practical war was. This army of mine, while perfect in discipline, thoroughly drilled, were deficient, that they had never been under fire. It is to their heroism, indomitable pluck and strength that the country is indebted for that victory, for I tell you, my old comrades, that even after undergoing four years of war, as I did in my youth, having with me men who fought against us, and some of the older men who served through the war of the rebellion, I say, and their unanimous verdict was, that American soldiers never suffered before, or were in a campaign that so severely tried them as did this."

He then gave an interesting account of the campaign, saying that the difficulties were not in the fighting—that was the easiest part of it—but in getting food and medicine to the front over the single, muddy, terrible road, to haul a battery over which required fourteen horses instead of four.

Gompers said in part: "All honor of the brave and valiant soldiers who, by their tact, judgment and heroism, planned and executed the war and brought victory to our arms in a sur-prisingly brief period. None pay too prisingly brief period. None pay too glowing tributes to the splendid manifestations of ideal heroism as displayed by Hobson and Wainwright, Miles and Shater, Wheeler and Lee, and the redoubtable Dewey. And, while not detracting one lota from the need of praise bestowed upon, and to which these gallant men are entitled, yet none the less deserving of the encomiums of praise and honor are the men who carried the guns and the men behind the guns, for without their unswerving devotion, their skill, daring and self-sacrifice, victory would have been dashed from our lips and disaster overtaken us all. The heroism and valor of the American soldier, inspired by American love of liberty, render our people invulnerable in industry, peace and progress, as well as invincible in the art of war.

"In the midst of our rejoicings over the success of our aoms, it is well that we look to the causes that brought on our war with Spain and consider the questions which have grown out of it and the attitude which we, as a literty-loving people of a great republic, should take in regard to them.

"What has become of the paeans of praise for the brave Cubans? Was our charge against Spain, in her refusal to give the people of that island freedom and independence baseless? If we admit this, we at once confess that our war was without just cause; we confess to a most grievous wrong committed.

Chairman Truax and the Jubilee Committee were also present. Mayor iteration was on his left. The ceremony of presentation being over, the President made his way to the box reserved for him, the audience applauding enthusiastically.

Shortly before the arrival of President McKinley there was a massing of dark uniforms and a glitter of gold braid at the entrance of the hall, and then a long column of fighting men headed by the tall form of Gen. Miles, moved across the floor in the direction of the Reception Committees. Gen. Miles received a most enthusiastic welcome. Close behind him were Gen.

As soon as the President had reached his box the orchestra struck up its strains and the ball was open. But for a time there was no dancing so great was the throng pressing out upon the floor. About $25,000 was realized for the benefit of the soldiers and sailors. About 11:30 o'clock the President left the Auditorium and was driven to the ball of the Illinois Naval Reserves in the Medinah Temple. For ten minutes the middies filed past the President, shaking his hand. Then, taking a position at the end of the hall, he addressed the bluejackets briefly. While cheering still continued, the President excused himself and departed He was driven at once to the McWilliams residence on Lake avenue and retired soon after

Dying Will Come Higher.

[New York Tribune:] The coffinmakers have formed a trust, with a capital of $20,000,000, and its stock will very likely be listed on the exchange before long, and operated in like other industrials, going up and down as the gruesome manipulators behind the scenes jerk the wires. In all likelihood, its principal effect will be that it will cost more to die than formerly, and that, with competition eliminated, the quality of coffins will deteriorate. No kicking is to be looked for from 'their incumbents, and as to the survivors the size of the undertakers' bills will take their breath away, leaving them none for complaint or remonstrance. The trust ought to be a great success, but if its promoters assert that it meets a long-felt want it will be a somewhat impudent experiment upon the simplicity and credulity of the public. nakers have formed a trust, with a

An Insight into the Mystic Future. [Tillamook Herald:] We have been in the newspaper business, lo, these many years, and we have traded subscriptions for almost everything mentionable in the animal and vegetable kingdoms—bullpups, pumpkins, stove wood, suckers and mud-cats—and thought we had run the gamut, until James Atkinson of Sand Lake, one of the coming cranberry kings, brought us in a sack of fine cranberries to renew his subscription. Did we take 'em'? Well, now, you say! We'll take anything. We need a good, fat turkey to go with the cranberries, a goose will do, or spring chickens—not too "springy"—and we'll need some onions to go with the goose; we have a few spuds; and, oh, yes! a little sugar to go with the cranberries. Brother Atkinson, we thank you. Your contribution has aroused a kind of homesickness in us (but you are not to blame for that,) and we can see again in the old homestead of our boyhood days the table spread for the Thanksgiving feast, with roast turkey and cranberry sauce galore—Well, pass the turkey, please.

Insanity in England.

Insanity in England.

[London Mail:] The treatment of lunacy continues to offer a growing burden to the taxpayers of the United kingdom. The fifty-second report of the commissioners in lunacy, addressed to the Lord Chancellor, which has just been issued, shows that on January 1 of this year there was an increase of 2919 reported at the beginning of the preceding year.

Examination of the statistical tables discloses that the increase is entirely under the head of insane persons of the pauper class, and that they are treated in the public asylum maintained by the county and borough authorities. The rise in the number of lunatics so treated has gone on for some years; during the last ten years the average annual addition to the army of insane persons was 1933.

At the first sight it might be thought that lunacy is startingly spreading among the population. The fact, however, seems to be that of late years there has been a tendency to send to asylums for careful treatment many cases which formerly would have been retained at home or in the work-houses and, for example, persons upon whom old age has brought dementia now be-

Letters should be brief, plainly written, clear in statement and properly vouched for. No attention is paid to anonymous contributions. Tricky Employment Agents. A VICTIM, Los Angeles: I noticed in your columns of Sunday's issue, that a woman had appealed to the police authorities for assistance to recover a authorities for assistance to recover a fee paid by her to some one of these employment agencies in the city, and as it seems by her statement that she has been duped by the agency in question, I venture to put before the public—particularly those seeking employment—the tactics pursued by one of these agencies, which is claimed by its manager to be the "creme de la creme" of its class. This is one of the methods: Some business house notifies this agency its requirements, namely, a "salesman for gent's furnishings," or a "saleslady for ladies' suits," as the case may be, and instead of the manager filling the position from his list of those who are already members, which he should, he uses the application as a means of increasing his members, and inserts an advertisement in a local paper, notifying his wants. In due time he receives applicants, who are required to pay a membership fee before they are given any information about the position, all the applicants believing that they stand a good chance, as they are made to think they do. And, as frequently happens, neither old or new members get the position. They readily pay the fee, but the wily manager has reaped his harvest from these too confiding applicants, who later see the trick which has beeen imposed on them. I may add the above has been my personal experience, as I was induced to become a member of said agency under similar circumstances, and have since seen the same game played more than once. Verb sap. fee paid by her to some one of these

Kitchener not an Irishman.

CORRECT, Los Angeles: I was much CORRECT, Los Angeles: I was much interested in your article in Sunday's Times on "The Sirdar of Egypt," but should like to rectify a small mistake made by your correspondent. He claims Gen. Sir Herbert Kitchener to be an Irishman. Now on the best authority, I know that he was born in Ireland of English parents. This I can vouch for; thus Erin can hardly claim him as one of her sons. This mistake has been made by many.

W. R. GOODWIN, Los Angeles: The recent editorial in The Times on the Virden murder was timely and sensible.

recent editorial in The Times on the Virden murder was timely and sensible. Gov. Tanner is simply playing to the galleries, though his conduct smells strongly of the pit. The malodorous Altgeld is a La France rose compared to the dog fennel Tanner.

The situation is about thus: The mining company fixed its scale of wages as it had a right to do. The miners had a right to reject the terms, and there their rights ended. The company had a right to employ laborers, whether foreigners or American citizens, irrespective of race, religion, color or previous condition of servitude. It was nobody's business as to whom the company should employ, only so that these employés should behave themselves. If the company had cause to believe that their employés were to be molested and had reason to believe that the State would not protect them in their rights, they were justified in defending their own interests, even if Winchesters were needed. If Gov. Tanner had done his duty, the mob of miners would have been avoided, and the good name of Illinois would not have suffered. But Gov. Tanner espoused the side of the lawless strikers, and in that much is responsible for every murder that occurred.

responsible for every murder that oc-curred.

This is, in theory, a free country, though the "totem" that has been folsted upon the Republican platform is simply on the same principle that Gov. Tanner has laid down. Labor miners are all right so long as they do no interfere with the rights of others. By interfere with the rights of others. But no organization has a right to tell me for whom I shall work, nor whom I shall employ. That is a matter solely between the employer and employé, and any interference by any organization is un-American and in so far anarchistic. Tanners and totems are not the legitimate growth of the Declaration of Independence.

WHAT THE CITY'S EXPENSES HAVE BEEN.

REGISTRATION

SUIT OF CARRION AGAINST. THE

His Mental Condition-Supreme Court Decision in the Whit-tier School Case.

The first quarterly report of the City Auditor as to the condition of the funds in the city treasury or to the credit of the regular standing funds has been filed with the City Clerk. It shows what has been expended during the first quarter of the present fiscal year in all of the city-departments, and the balance which remains to them for the remaining nine months. Owing to the Democratic City Convention there was no meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday morning. It was impossible to secure a quorum. Plans for the construction of the new bridges provided for in the last bond act of the City Council will be submitted to that body at its next meet

ng. Today the defendant's brief in the mandamus proceedings of O'Neal against County Clerk Newlin will be against County Clerk Newlin will be filed, and the case will then stand submitted in Judge Allen's department. The fact that the Superior Courts in five other counties have decided that the registration must continue until fifteen days before the date of election is suggestive at this time.

Judge York yesterday decided in the case of Carrion against Aguayo that a deed absolute was in fact not a deed absolute; in other words, that it was not what on its face it purported to be, as it was given as a mortgage only. The point was a curiously interesting one.

J. W. Bailey, the old man caught in an act of indecency with 7-year-old Elsie Pratt at Westlake Park, was yesterday arraigned before Justice Young on the charge of assault with intent to commit rape. His examination was set for Monday next.

An important decision was handed down by the Supreme Court yesterday, in which it was held that the trustees of the Whittier Reform School had no authority to divert money from the fund set apart for the school's maintenance, and appropriate it to building purposes.

How the Other Counties are Solve ing the Same Problem-Superior Court of Riverside County Falls

Today the defendant's brief in the mandamus proceedings, brought by O'Neal against the County Clerk to compel him to enter his name on the supplemental register, will be filed in Department Six, and the case will then stand submitted.

Because the Superior Court of our county, or half a dozen counties, for that matter, decides a case one way, it does not necessarily follow that all others must follow suit. It does, how-ever, indicate the drift of judicial interpretation of the law bearing upon the subject, and the recent decision in Riverside county makes five counties wherein the Superior courts have construed the registration law to mean that when there is only supplemental registration voters may be registered up to fifteen days before the date of

In one of the counties wherein this matter was passed upon the status of the case was set forth in a series of what might be termed nine proposi-

ions:
1. That registration in counties in 1. That registration in councies ... which a new registration is had must cease on the eighty-fifth day before election.

2. That there is no specific provision to so many words at what

2. That there is no special which says in so many words at what time registration must cease in counciles in which no new registration is had.

3. That section 1083 (so far as not repealed or superseded by the amendments to section 1094) entitles voters to vote who are registered as much as fifteen days prior to the election, and section 1095 makes it the duty of the Clerk to register them. Clerk to register them.
4. If this discrimination between the two classes of counties is unconstitu-tional (a point which it is unnecessar; tional (a point which it is unnecessary to decide in this action,) then the eighty-five days' provision drops out and all registration in all counties ceases fifteen days before election.

5. If the clause of section 1094, which prohibits transfers from one precinct to another, applies to all counties, it is simply a legislative blunder which is inconsistent, but unimportant.

6. In counties in which a new registration has been ordered the clerk must, 72 days before the election, arrange all the affidavits of registration and enter them in separate precinct books.

7. In counties in which there is no

9. In counties in which no new registration is had it is simply provided that the Clerk must have the supplemental register printed "within the time prescribed for printing the register," which is at least ten days before the election.

the election.

The Superior Court of Napa county in thus determining held that with the policy of the law the court had nothing to do, so long as the constitutional right of the voter to cast his ballot and that there is neither incongruity nor lack of harmony in the statutes bearing upon the subject, save for the rom one precinct to another after registration.

Attention is also drawn to the fact that the Legislature has the power to make such regulations as it deems wise. It has seen fit to make a distinction between registrations of all voters of a county, sometimes numbering tens of thousands, and registrations of the mere additions since the last election. In the one case the Clerk is given eighty-five days within which to arrange, classify and print the names of all the voters in the county, while in the other case it has provided while in the other case it has provided that only fifteen days are sufficient.

A DANGEROUS METHOD.

The somewhat peculiar suit of Dolores N. de Carrion against Ygnacio Aguayo and Ramona R. de Aguayo, was decided yesterday by Judge York in favor of the defendants.

The action was one in ejectment, the plaintiff seeking to oust the defendants from possession of a piece of property near Azusa, on the strength of a bar gain and sale deed. True enough this deed conveyed title to the property to the plaintiff, through her husband, who assigned it before his death, but never-theless the court has now decided that the deed was in reality not what on its face it purported to be. The facts lead-ing up to this conclusion were as fol-lows:

ing up to this conclusion were as follows:

In June, 1892 the defendants, who are husband and wife, obtained from Saturnino Carrion, husband of the plaintiff, a loan of $1000 and to secure payment, gave a grant, bargain and sale deed to their home place. While this deed did make conveyance of the property it was never intended to be a deed absolute, but only to serve the purpose of a mortgage, to secure payment of the $1000 borrowed, with 7 per cent. interest. With this understanding, the deed was made and Saturnino Carrion stipulated that when he was repaid his money he would make a deed reconveying the property. In May, 1894, an error was discovered in the deed, but the Aguayos did not display any disposition to avail themselves of any technical defect; they had got the $1000 and were prepared to give a proper conveyance on the understanding as already outlined. And they did so, for a new deed was prepared and executed. By and by old man Carrion became ill and felt his end approaching, and with the idea of curtailing the expenses incident to administering his estate, assigned the deed to his wife, the present plaintiff.

The property is now worth about

Any person, company or corporation removing such infected animal is to be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be punished for each offense by a fine of not less than $25, nor more than $500, or by imprisonment in the County Jail not exceding six months. When the school trustees determined to build the trades' building and make other additions to the school, premiums were offered for the most artistic, as well as the most suitable, plans submitted. By this inducement it was believed that architects of established reputation would enter into competition and plans of a high order of excellence be obtained. The first prize, or premium, was fixed at $4050, the second at $150, and the third at $100. When the time arrived that these amounts had to be paid, the State Board of Examiners refused to pass the claims for $4300, and in such case the State Comptroller also stood pat. Application was then made in the Supreme Court for a writ of mandate addressed to the State Comptroller, directing him to pay the warrants drawn for $4300. The court, in its opinion, decides adversely to the Whittier trustees, holding that they have no power nor authority to direct money from the fund set apart for the maistenance and carrying on of the reform school, and apply it in defraying the expense of erecting new buildings, no matter how necessary such buildings may of erecting new buildings, no mat-ter how necessary such buildings may be considered for the welfare of the

JUST FINANCIAL TROUBLE.

Druggist Thomas Became Tempor arily Insane from Brooding. A pathetic scene was presented yes-terday when Joseph E. Thomas, the drug clerk, who lost his mind on Sun-day morning and created a disturb-ance on Spring street, was brought be-fore Judge Clark for examination as to his mental condition.

Drs. Brainerd and Smith examined Drs. Brainerd and Smith examined the patient, who was perfectly rational and answered all the questions put to him in a very gentlemanly manner. Shortly after the proceedings had begun, Mrs. Thomas, with other relatives and friends of the patient, entered the room where the examination was 'being held, without being noticed by the patient, they ranging themselves some distance behind him. The sight of her husband in such a position was too much for Mrs. Thomas, and she attempted to push forward and embrace him. Friends with difficulty restrained her, but ultimately she became quiet tempted to push forward and embrace him. Friends with difficulty restrained her, but ultimately she became quiet and the investigation continued.

The story as told by Thomas himself, and corroborated by others, was one wherein a man of far more than ordinary intelligence was forced by circumstances to accept an almost menial position, in order to provide food for those dependent upon him. Utall two years ago Thomas was a fairly prosperous pharmacist at Astoria, Or. He met with reverses, however, and so with his young wife he came south to Los Angeles. Misfortune continued to dog his footsteps, for he could get no employment, either in his own profession, nor in any avocation where his education and professional training would serve him in good stead. Finally he obtained a position with the Meek Baking Company, where he earned just barely enough to keep the wolf from his door. During all of this time Thomas broaded and thought unearned just barely enough to keep the wolf from his door. During all of this time Thomas brooded and thought until his brain ached in the vain attempt to hit upon some plan by which he might break through the unhappy financial condition that environed him. Dr. McLean. who was a close personal friend, testified that about three weeks ago Thomas showed the first incipient signs of weakening mentality. On Sunder last suddenly and without any friend, testified that about three weeks ago Thomas showed the first incipient signs of weakening mentality. On Sunday last, suddenly and without any warning the culminating point of strain was reached, and Thomas became, for the time at least, pronouncedly insane. He stated yesterday that he had a dim, memory of some of the absurd and foolish things that he had done, conceded that they were abnormal and stated that he could suggest nothing by way of explanation, save that it was mental collapse, as a result of financial trouble.

After Thomas had answered the interrogatories put to him, he turned to give place to one of his friends, who was about to testify, and for the first time he saw his wife and other relatives gathered close by. Now his wife would not be restrained, and rushing to her husband she embraced him as he sat in the chair as if he were a sick child. Others pressed forward, too, and for a couple of minutes there was a happy, if somewhat tearful family reunion: but through it all the wife held her husband's hand, and caressingly pressed it from time to time as if to give assurance that despite all trouble she would be by his side to share it.

The symptoms presented by Thomas were got such as would indicate insanity proper. With good care and attention it was thought that he would likely recover himself, and to afford such opportunity Judge Clark, on the recommendation of the medical examiners, sent him back 'o he hospital. Beyond all else, however, a removal of the primary trouble is best calculated to enable Thomas to regain and maintain his mental equilibrium.

OLD BAILEY'S OFFENSE.

The facts in connection with the attempted assault have already been published in The Times, and also the fact that Deupty Dist.-Atty. Chambers thought it unwise to issue a complaint against Bailey, charging him with intent to commit rape under the peculiar circumstances of the case. Park Officer Wilson, however, did swear out a complaint against Balley for battery, inasmuch as the old man's onslaught upon the officer when disturbed in his distardly work was victous in the extreme. But when the residents around the park learned that no heavier charge than battery was to be preferred against Bailey, they were indignant, and a few pledged themselves to raise $100, if necessary, to make things hot for the old man. The feeling was so acute that Officer Wilson felt warranted in going to the District Attorney and making representation of the facts. Mr. Donnell said he would, on the facts alleged, willingly draw a complaint charging Bailey with an assault upon Eisle Pratt, with intent to commit rape, and did so, Officer Wilson swearing to it in the Township Court Meantime Balley had been trying to get the small amount of ball necessary in a battery case, but before he had done so a Deupty Sheriff took him fron the City to the County Jail. Later in the day he was arraigned before Justic Young on the last-named complaint and had his examination set for Mon day next, his bail being placed at $200 Pending examination on the majo charge the one of battery will be continued indefinitely.

As you have about money enough to buy a lot, let each of the merchants in the building line donate a part of the material in their line of business, and the mechanics donate a day's work apiece in their several trades. I will start the list by giving the plans, and superintend the building of the same from the time it is started, until it is completed, by be ing on the ground and laying out the work for the different mechanics. It should be an easy matter for Fred Eaton to defeat the renominated Snyder without turning a hair. Mr. Snyder's record as Mayor is enough to defeat a much greater man than is the small but ever-active Democratic politician, who, for the past two years, has been rattling around in a responsible office. This great and growing city demands for the office of Mayor a man of affairs, a man of broad ideas and a man who has some knowledge of the municipality's needs. Such a man is Fred Eaton, a citizen who has grown up in the city from an humble station but against whom no charge of weakness can be brought. In all good time, THE TIMES will undertake show to the voters of Los Angeles sound and ample reasons why Mr. Snyder is wholly unfit for the office he now fills and why his opponent will make one of the strongest, ablest and most honest Mayors the city ever had. Meanwhile we have another campaign on, which demands consideration, and with a county ticket surpassingly good in all its details, the Republicans are united to elect the party's nominees. Mr. Snyder's case. and those of the other men running with him on the conglomerate city ticket, will be attended to later on.

A correspondent desires to be in formed whether, during the two months immediately preceding the war with Spain, the treasury receipts under the Dingley Bill, showed a deficit, or a surplus over the expenses of running the government. The Dingley law produced a steadily increasing reve nue from the time it went into effect (July 27, 1897,) each month showing a smaller deficit than that of the preceding month. The exact figures of the revenue for the months of March and April, 1898, are not at hand, but they were only a few millions shor of the expenditures. Treasury officials estimated that before the close of the fiscal year, June 30, the regular income of the government would be more than equal to its ordinary expen ditures, and this estimate would undoubtedly have been borne out by the facts had not the war intervened to change the course of events.

That great and good man and able journalist, Henri Watterson of the Louisville-Courier Journal, puts the matter before Col. William Jennings Bryan in this picturesque and appealing way:

POLITICS.

An amusing incident of the frantic efforts of the fusionists to agree upon a basis for dividing the spoils of office occurred yesterday when the Confer-ence Committee undertook to dispose of the nomination for Councilman from the Ninth Ward. Prior to the primarie last week, there were two Democratic candidates for the nomination, Clark and Glasscock. The primarles re sulted in a victory for Clark, who cap tured a majority of the delegation This excited no particular commen until some of Glasscock's friends be gan to circulate the story that Clark was really put in the field by Repubwas really put in the field by Republican influence for the purpose of securing a nominee who could be easily beaten. This argument was used with convincing effect upon the Conference Committee. The Democratic contingent of the committee was desirous of giving this nomination to their own party, but was seriously alarmed at the bugaboo raised by the suggestion of wicked Republican influences working in Clark's behalf. But if the nomination should be awarded to the Democrats it was obvious that the Populists must be made use of once more, as so often in the past. They were informed that they could nominate the Ninth Ward Councilman, but that the nominee must be Glasscock. When this proposition was broached to the Pops there was a roar, but their Democratic colleagues insisted and finally carried the point. The scheme was carried out and the rather remarkable spectacle is presented of the Populists naming a Democrat for one of the few places allotted to them on the city ticket, while the Democratic delegates, who were really entitled to make the nomination, were compelled to accept a man whom they and their constituents had strongly opposed. But the pill must be swallowed and as it goes down the patient will be heard, as usual, to express in a choking voice his enthusiasm for fusion. lican influence for the purpose of se Vellow journalism has not so much to be yellow about as it had some as usual, to express in a choking voice his enthusiasm for fusion .

William J. Brodrick, one of the best-known and widely respected citi-zens of the city, and who has for many years been identified with the interesis of the Los Angeles City Water Compamy, died yesterday shortly before noon, at his home on South Figueroa street, below Washington. His death was not unexpected. Since last Sat-urday it has been known that he had little chance of recovery, and turing the interum he has not been conscious. His illness was of comparatvely brief duration. A week ago he was at his office as usual, but for a long time he had been complaining of not feeling well. His physicians warned him against apoplexy, and told him that he would drop off sometime without warn-ing. The immediate cause of his death was a hemorrhage on the brain.

Thef riends of Mr. Brodrick assert that his death was due to overwork and their assertion is not without truth. For years he had been a constant toiler in the interests of the water company and since the litigation began between the city and the company, he has devoted much time to assisting the attorneys for the corporation in preparing their case. Members of his family say it frequently happened that he would not go to bed until after 4 o'clock in the morning, yet after having retired at that late hour would go to work at the usual time, about 8 o'clock a.m.

Mr. Waters certainly made a most favorable impression on his audience. In rapid succession came John H. Gish. T. E. Nichols, Prof. Strine, Alex Caldwell, R. D. Wade, J. C. Fortunately the kodak mania seldom manifests itself to such an extreme degree as it did in the case of the San Diego mother who stopped with her baby on one arm to photograph a big rattlesnake that lay but six feet from her, coiled and ready to strike. The public will have little sympathy for R. A. Bird, whose appeal to the Supreme Court was heard yesterday Bird was a bright young man, but went wrong and served a term behind the bars. Then Griffith J. Griffith, with too much confidence in human nature for his own advantage, tried to help Bird live down his record and be a man. The Business Men Form a Congress-ional League.

The organization of the Business Men's Congressional Sound Money League last evening in Music Hall will give an impetus to the candidacy of A. J. sustained by returning to Congress men who will not only work for the policy laid down by him, but in every way aid the executive in his efforts. The acting chairman, G. H. Stewart, said last night:

"You know, gentlemen, why we have met. We should form ourselves into a body to vote, to lend aid to our national administration, and we should inject into the present local campaign such enthusiasm and vim as will show to the people of this district that we propose to stand for the principles laid down by the Republican sound-money platform. We propose to form a club and look to it that the nominee for Congress standing on a sound-money platform is sent to Congress."

R. W. Burnham was elected temporary chairman, with George H. Stewart as secretary. This was followed by permanent organization, with John F. Francis as president; George H. Stewart, secretary, and the name of the club to be "The Business Men's Congressional Sound Money League."

About fifty men signed the roll. An adjournment was taken, subject to the call of President Francis. He will select a committee of fifty, which in turn will designate five of its members who, in connection with the president and secretary, shall act as an Executive Board, and handle all matters pertaining to the work of the league.

His complaint was poured into deaf cars, for the police are prone to believe that young O'Regan is behaving well and that the father is moved by mixed motives. Some of the officers say the young man has settled down to hard work and is supporting his wife and mother, and is therefore not deserving of punishment at all.

put forward by the unterrified.
The policy of putting off the distribution of Councilmen and members of the Board of Education until the last moment resulted, as had been expected, in no end of turmoil. Brand-new conference committees from the three conventions discussed the vexed question, and came to a conclusion, but regardless of their recommendations. ratified by the conventions, the Demo-crats of the First Ward, disregarding the fact that the ward had granted to the Populists, and that Milton Carlson, chairman of the Populist County Central Committee, was slated County Central Committee, was slated as the nominee, put forward L. P. Collette, and stubbornly insisted upon nominating him, refusing to withdraw their action. Poley of the Sixth Ward was nominated for the Board of Education, though this place on the ticket had been assigned to the Populists.

Mayor Snyder's fine Italian hand was visible in the proceedings. The hottest fight of the day was the struggle for the nomination for District Attorisms. C. Wright Mayor Snyder's test fight of the day was the for the nomination for District Attorney. C. C. Wright, Mayor Snyder's choice, was outstripped in the first ballotings by the rival candidates, Frank James and Frank G. Charles G. Colster, a dark horse, won the long and bitter fight for the office of Street Superintendent.

c City Convention was called to at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning, after Chairman Trask had rapped for attention for nearly five minutes A committee of nine on fusion, one com each ward, was appointed to coneult with a like number from the Silver Republican and Populist conven-tion to decide definitely upon the dis-

Chalrman Trask told the committee Chairman Trask told the committee to at once confer with the committees of the other parties, and to report the result of the meeting without delay. He said it was especially desirable to come to a speedy agreement on members of the Board of Education and the was some dispute among the

There was some dispute among the Second Ward delegates in reference to a fusion committeeman. A. J. King had at first been selected, but J. O'Sullivan contested, and so strongly that a revision was ordered and a new vote taken. It resulted in the election of Mr. King by a vote of 13 to O'Sullivan's 12. van's 12.
Congressman C. A. Barlow addressed the convention, using much the same language as he had employed before the Populist convention the day before. The mention of the names of Mayor Snyder and W. J. Bryan evoked much explause.

DOCKWEILER'S VICTORY.

Nominations for City Engineer were then taken up. Richard Dillon nom-inated J. H. Dockweiler, the present onded by Frank W. Allender.
Lucian Earl presented the name of Erest Abs-Hagan, setting forth his capabilities in a long speech. Mr. Hagan, he said, had drawn up plans in the water works matter for the city, and had been voted thanks by the Council for his services.

E. T. Hardin nominated Capt. W. T. Lambie. He said his choice had constructed the San Francisco tunnel, and had also engaged in the work of erecting the water works at Washington, D. C.

D. C. Nominations for City Engineer were then declared closed. The First Ward, thirty-two votes, went solid for Dockweller, as did the Third Ward, with fifty-one votes, and the Seventh Ward with, eighty-one votes. In the Eighth Ward Dockweller got forty-nine votes, the remailing six votes going to Hassan.

Such quick results were too much for the delegates and when the Eighth Ward had balloted. Mr. Earl withdrew the name of Mr. Hagan, and a moment later Mr. Hardia withdrew Lambie. That left the field to Henry Dockweller, and upon motion by Mr. Earl his nomination which was certain, though the balloting had not been entirely gone through with, was made unanimous.

Mr. Dockweller was called to the platform, and delivered a brief speech of thanks. The convention then adjourned to 1:30 o'clock.

W. P. Hyatt nominated J. E. Yoakum for Superintendent of Streets, and J. T. Black seconded the nomination. Dr. D. W. Edelman presented the name of Charles G. Colster for the same office in a brief and neatly-worded speech. R. J. Adocek nominated F. M. Nickell. He said of him that he was responsible for many park improvements, and also for part of the improved construction of the outfall sewer, and that he did excellent work for the people as a Councilman. Shirley Ward placed in nomination D. E. Watson, saying that if he were nominated he would be a greater winner this time than he was six years ago.

F. W. Allendes, who seems to have F. W. Allendes, who seems to have a monopoly in the nominating-speech business, seconded the nomination of Yoakum in his usual gesticulatory way. J. B. Cook, colored, seconded Colster, in a speech full of long words, frequently meaningless, but nevertheless "catching" the convention. His oratorical effort was heartily cheered. A. Vincent Barber "added his voice" in favor of Yoakum, as did Joseph Mesmen after which nominations for the office closed, and the candidates were exhibited upon the platform.

A CLOSE RACE.

From the way the votes were scattered in favor of the four candidates it was apparent that it would take morthan one ballot to decide the victor The rivalry for this office, usually considered a juicy one, was very keen as was evidenced in the nominating speeches. The party recognizes the fact that in order to even make a run fact that in order to even make a run-ning show, it will have to put up a very strong man against John Drain the Republican candidate for the of-fice. Great interest was manifested by the convention in the selection of candidate, the balloting being punc-tuated by considerable cheering.

Resolutions of regret on the death W. A. Ryan, a prominent Democrat were read, and unanimously adopted. A opy of the resolutions will be forwarded to the mother of the deceased

NICKELL DROPS OUT.

NICKELL DROPS OUT.

When the result of the vote on the second ballot was announced there was much cheering for Colster. The outlook was such as to cause the withdrawal of Mr. Nickell. Colster, Yoakum and Nickell are from the First Ward, and it was difficult for the delegates from this ward to discriminate justly. Most of the precincts divided their votes about evenly between the three candidates. Nickell's withdrawal made the situation more problematical than ever. situation more problematical than ever and the fight now lay between Yoakum and Colster. Nickell shifted as many and Coister. Delegates were very active on the floor, and the contest was arousing great interest. The balloting started off very favorable to Wright, but as it was proceeded with things altered little by little. It was palpable, however, that the contest would be the hottest of the day. The First Ward gave 32 votes for James, the Ninth 28 for Wright, and the Eighth 52 for Finlayson. The chairman of the Seventh announced 70 votes for Wright, but a delegate contested it, and a vote was taken. It resulted in 50½ votes for Wright instead of 70. Mr. Finlayson having been accused of voting for McKinley, and the gold standard, he took it upon himself to open the evening session with a speech in which he denied the allegation. The fourth ballot was then taken to determine the choice of the convention for City Attorney. Judging from the sult of the vote. Finlayson's stump speech had a salutary effect on about a dozen delegates for he gained over Wright on this ballot. He must have had a shrewd advisor, for that opportune speech of Finlayson's was one of the "rush act" features of the convention. The vote in the different precincts was about the same for the three candidates, though it was noticeable, if cheering or effort is a criterion, that Finlayson was gaining friends on the floor. A motion was made to have the candidate receiving the least number of votes in the next ballot drop out, but it was not seconded. Furthermore, the promised flop of Finlayson and James votes to Wright did not materialize, which was the result anticipated from the recess. On the contrary, the rivalry seemed to be keener than before. The result of the fourt ballots follows:

JAMES DROPS OUT.

When the seventh ballot was in its early stage, James held a brief consultation with his staunchest supporters in the First Ward, and it was aggred that he should withdraw, which he did. James's votes were diminishing gradually, and his withdrawal was the only escape from inevitable defeat.

The fight now lay between Wright and Finlayson. It was apparent from the voting and the enthusiasm that Wright would win out, perhaps only by a small margin, however, and after an exciting and close contest. Finlayson still retained his warm supporters, who cheered his name lustily at every opportunity.

The fight was very vigorous, and sufficiently close to excite interest, While the balloting was in progress it seemed like any man's fight, for, no sooner had one candidate got a big lead, than the others were voted lump numbers and caught up. The first ballot resulted:

James 124½
Wright 165
Finlayson 163½
Total vote 160, and the contest was arousing great interest. The balloting started off very favorable to Wright, but as it was proceeded with things altered little by little. It was palpable, however, that the contest would be the hottest of the day. The First Ward gave 22 votes for James, the Ninth 28 for Wright, and the Eighth 52 for Finlayson. The chairman of the Seventh announced 70 votes for Wright, but as taken. It resulted in 50½ votes for Wright, but as taken. It resulted in 50½ votes for Wright, instead of 70. L. Davis said that the First Ward delegates had asked the chairman of the Fusion Committee if they could nominate a Councilman, and had received an affirmative reply. They had therefore nominated in caucus during the recess L. P. Collette for Councilman, leaving the member of the Board of Education to the Populists. He wished to know what he was to do now.

After a delagate had declared the First Ward caucus illegal and not binding, the chair said that he had explicitly told Mr. Davis that if his ward delegates went ahead with their nominations they would be doing so at their own risk. This closed the controversy on that point.

S. E. Fulton, for the Populist party, and Dr. Boynton for the Silver Republican party, appeared before the convention, assuring them that the report of the Fusion Committee had been adopted by their respective conventions.

Barlow's Donation to the Railroad Barlow's Donation to the Railroad. [Santa Barbara Press:] Melvin Snow, editor of Equity, the Popullst organ of this county, has recovered from his injuries received in the explosion in the tunnel of the Occidental Oil Company, and he is again directing the fortunes of his paper, and throwing hot shot into the fusion ranks. He pays his compliments to Pub. Docs. Barlow, our "business" Congressman, as follows:

as follows: asserted by Democratic papers on behalf of Barlow that the bold and bad Congressman Loud borrowed the "frank" of the simple and innocent Barlow and used it to send out musty old pub. docs. to be used by the railroad during the weighing period in order to fix heavier charges against the government for the next four years. It has been estimated that Barlow's frank was worth over $120,000 to the Southern Pacific Railroad this year.

Now will some of our Democratic friends tell us what in thunder a Populist Congressman was thinking of, to loan his frank to such a notorious character as Loud, whose efforts to destroy country newspapers are yet in character as Loud, whose efforts to destroy country newspapers are yet in the recollection of all men? Is Barlow such a benighted idiot? If so, the sixth District would better elect a guardian to accompany him in his wanderings in Washington where occasionally a bad man may be found who would as soon as not crack practical jokes upon a green Populist from Wayback district.

But our friends are misled. Mr. Barlow is not such a fool as he looks. It would probably be actionable to say otherwise. He did not loan his frank. He and his private secretary probably attended to the mailing of those voluable ancient books. able ancient books. At any rate he sent this office about two hundred and tewnity-five pounds of rotten stuff during the weighing period, accompanying them with a personal letter, bragging of his generosity. One sack was addressed to "Equity," the other to "Melvin Snow." At first we thought to leave them in the postoffice, but on receiving word from the postmaster that he would return them if not soon removed (as was his duty) we decided that in such a case we would be equally guilty with Barlow by again adding to the weight of the railroad mall, and therefore removed them. They were later destroyed by the accidental burning of the residence where we had them stored on private exhibition, but the Santa Barbara postoffice clerks and others are our witnesses to the quantity and quality of the stuff. Whoever put it in the mail calculated to increase the revenues of the Southern Pacific Railroad Comany at the expense of the government. We assert that it was done by C. A. Barlow, member of Congress for the Sixth California District, or his private secretary (E. M. Wardall.) at his instance. We challenge Barlow or any of his friends to deny either that he did it or that it was intended to aid the railroad company.

Rational Protection on Citrus Fruits.

THE citrus growers of California take the broad ground that American agriculture, being the foundation of all other industries, should enlist the highest solicitude and receive the government's protection. This protection should be direct and substantial, and not indirect and consequential. The weak point in past tariff legislation has been that the manufacturing industries have had the direct benefit and agricultural industries the indirect. This one fact has, more than any other, caused the instability and uncertainty of tariff legislation, and the consequent instability and uncertainty of tariff legislation, and the consequent instability and uncertainty of business. Let agriculture and agricultural laborers receive their share of protection, as well as other industries and their operatives, and the whole country will march along on an even grade up the plane of prosperity and industrial success.

In the application of his great prinall other industries, should enlist the

In the application of his great principle those products of the soil that tiple those products of the soil that meet the most damaging competition from foreign importations, but which being properly protected, will bring the greatest benefits of the country, should be most carefully fostered and pro-tected. The great drawback to Amertected. The great drawback to American agriculture has been the overproduction of certain leading products—as wheat, cotton and corn—the prices of which are fixed in the world's markets; or, in other words, at their export value. The policy, of our tariff laws should be to divert the current of agricultural effort from these overworked channels toward the cultivation of products with which our own markets are more or less supplied by importation. but which, with slight governmental encouragement, would be markets are more or less supplied by importation. but which, with slight governmental encouragement, would be produced to fully supply our home demand, and perhaps to be largely exported under advantageous reciprocity treaties.

Tariff legislation on these lines would Tariff legislation on these lines would not only benefit the industries directly protected, but would indirectly help those which we would divert producers, by relieving them from the consequences of overproduction. We would also induce the breaking of large holdings of land and the formation of small farms, with better end more profitable cultivation, and thus at the same time bring about more favorable social and intellectual conditions—greater contentment among the rural population, all of which the experience of the past few years has shown to be desirable. In pursuit of this policy, and to bring about these results, no other branch stands so much in need of direct protection as that embraced under the head of general horticulture, including California raisins, prunes, olives, English walouts, almonds, citrons, lemons, limes and oranges. Not exactly a horticultural product, yet as proper for protection in the lines under discussion we would also name beet sugar.

cussion we would also name beet sugar.

These products all find a natural home in California, but are all struggling thard for success under most discouraging circumstances, from the fact that we have strong competition for the supply of our home markets with these products in foreign countries having many advantages, but he natural and large many advantages. the supply of our home markets with these products in foreign countries having many advantages, buth natural and political, over us. The competing countries are Spain, Italy, the West Indies, Mexico and Japan, with a prospect that a number of the South American and South Africen countries will soon be added to the list. These are all chead labor, cheap land and cheap capital countries. In none of them is labor in these industries paid over 20 to 25 cents per day. Land is worth in most of them from 20 cents to a few dollars per acre, and capital commands from 3 to 4 per cent. per annum. While we pay from $1.50 to $2 per day, our lands adapted to the culture of these products are worth from $200 to $400 per acre, and capital cannot be had for less than eight or ten per cent.

had for less than eight or ten per cent, per annum.

From the nature of these products, labor-saving machinery is but little dapted to their cultivation or manipulation, and manual labor is one of the chief elements of their productions. At least 50 per cent, of a box of lemons is represented by labor, so that government protection inures largely to the benefits of rural labor.—[Fruitman's Canded]

UNION PACIFIC IN CONTROL. The Utah and Pacific is not Af-

matter under the heading, "In Complete Control," says:

"There is no longer any doubt that the Union Pacific controls the local line in every way. Its influence is already being strongly felt, and how much stronger that feeling will be, time alone will tell. Assurances have been given that no local changes of any importance will be made, but as to how long these assurances will hold good is a matter of conjecture.

"Another important matter is brought to the light by the stockholders' meeting. The Oregon Short Line controls the Oregon Rallroad and Navigation Company, and the latter road will certainly feel the same influence. In 1889 the Oregon Short Line and Utah Northern leased outright the Navigation lines and turned the system over to the Union Pacific. It is now argued that a similar action will follow, only the Navigation lines are to be consolidated with the Short Line, and the two systems will make one of nearly 3000 miles which would be operated under one management. Such a consolidation is said to be not at all in the dim future, but the next great move of the New York syndicate."

The Union Pacific has a large majority in the new board of directors of the Oregon Short Line.

It is interesting to learn from the new president, E. H. Harriman, that the change will in no way effect the general policy of the road, and particularly that it will not affect the Utah and Pacific in its efforts to build southwest from Milford and toward Los Angeles.

delegates from the "Bloody Eight" Ward.

Mike Fitzsimmons of Santa Monica, who probably gained his inspiration at the late three-ringed circus in the city by the sea, pleaded guilty to the charge of having imbibed too much, and was fined $10. Fitzsimmons, accompanied by his wife, drove to the city from Santa Monica last Monday. After attending to some business the couple started to drive home, but Fitzsimmons had meantime met some Democratic friends and got pretty well "jagged." His exuberance of spirits seemed to be shared by his team, and before they had gone far on their homeward journey, the horses were going so fast that Mrs. Fitzsimmons became frightened. She grabbed the lines and almost upset the buggy. Mr. Fitzsimmons again got hold of the reins, and his better half screamed. People along the wayside thought a tragedy was going to result. Word was telephoned to police headquarters, and Officer A. W. Murray went after the couple, and took them back to the Police Station, where both were booked for drunkenness. Mrs. Fitzsimmons was shortly afterward liberated, as it became apparent that she was not intoxicated, but simply hysterical. After spending the night in jail, Fitzsimmons yesterday explained the whole affair to Justice Owens, who fined him $10.

James Sweeney, a healthy beggar, was given a fifty-days' sentence for soliciting alms of City Jailer Collins while the latter was wending his way homeward at the end of his day's work. Sweeney did not know Collins was an officer, else he would not have taken such desperate chances.

Maggle Harris, a Spanish woman who has a predilection for strong drink, was given fifty days to sober up in.

Tom Morrissey, the youth who packed around a big revolver and a bowle-knife for the avowed purpose of slay-ing rabbits, was let off with a five-days' sentence for carrying concealed weapons, on promise of his fother to weapons, on promise of his father to take the lad with him to Arizona, where the elder Morrissey is a section boss on a railroad. The gun and knife were turned over to Morrissey, Sr., with the injunction that he keep them out of the hands of the boy until he arrives in Arizona, where he will have more need of the weapons to protect binself against attacks of jeckrobbits himself against attacks of jackrabbits than here in Los Angeles.

Police Clerk Bean accepted a certificate of deposit for $200 in lieu of $100 cash bail, from a young man who followed her to the station and offered to ball her out. Yesterday when it was hinted to the bailer that he was liable to lose his money on account of the bailee not being of legal age, he hastened to surrender her to the court, and drew down his security. Jud R. Rush appeared as counsel for the girl in the Police Court, and had her trial set for October 29, at 9:30 o'clock. Pending hearing of the case, the girl was turned over to the custody of her mother.

The case of Chew Kim Ying, for de-portation, was again called before Commissioner Van Dyke yesterday, but Commissioner Van Dyke yesterday, but continued until Friday morning at 10 o'clock. The defense is making a fight on the claim that Ying is native-born, having left here when she was 3 years of age, returning in February of last year, when she was 20 years of age. On her return she married Wong Tons, a merchant on Apablasa street, and therefore, through her nativity and subsequent marriage, it is claimed she is entitled to a residence in this country.

Burns Pleaded Guilty, but Says He

William Burns, Frank Evans and A Hammond, who severally pleaded Hammond, who severally pleaded guilty of the charge of petty larceny Monday afternoon, were before Justice When asked if they had anything to say before sentence. When asked if they had anything to say before sentence was pronounced, Evas and Hammond maintained a sullen silence. Not so Burns, the youngest and most decent-looking of the trio.

len silence. Not so Burns, the youngest and most decent-looking of the trio. Burns said that although he had pleaded guilty, he did not help to steal the plunder which the officers found in a room occupied jointly by Evans, Hammond and himself.

"Them why did you plead guilty?" asked the court.

"Because I knew the stuff was stolen," Bûrns replied, "and I thought I might as well stand my share of the blame, for the chances were we would all be found guilty anyhow."

Burns then went on to say that he fell in company with Evans and Hammond while beating his way from Sacramento to Los Angeles, on the train that brought the Seventh Regiment from San Francisco. When they arrived here, it was suggested that they should all room together. He paid his share of the room rent, and went out for a stroll with a soldier friend named Joe Albright, with whom he remained till 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. When he returned to the room, he found six pairs of trousers and a coat there, which his roommates informed him they had stolen. They hid the plunder under the mattresses, and that same evening the police searched the room, found the stuff and arrested all three. His guilt simply consisted in staying with known thleves instead of informing on them when he had found them out.

Justice Owens sentenced Evans and Hammond to 150 days' imprisonment each, and took Burns's case under advisement in order to find out if poscible if his story is true. If Soldier Joe Albright can be found his testimony may help to get Burns off with a light sentence.

TRAYNOR'S GOOD LUCK.

Charge of Battery Against a Good Fighter Dismissed

John Traynor, who has gained some notoriety through his prowess as a fighter, is a lucky man. Although twice in jeopardy of late, he is now out of the meshes of the law and free to resume visiting the apartments of his fe-male friends during their absence and to administer a sound thrashing to any watchful landlord who may have the temerity to object to his presence in his lodgers' rooms.

Traynor came off second best in a battle with Officer Holleran and Landlord Abbott of the New Commercial House, several weeks ago. Being overnowered by sheer numbers he was carted off to the Police Station and booked for attempted burglary. The burglary charge fell through, however, as Mrs. Green, whose room he was alleged to have entered with burglarious intent, testified that she had invited him to her apartment and had no objection to his being there during her absence.

Then Traynor was prosecuted for battery on Landlord Abbott, whom he attacked because the landlord questioned his right to be in Mrs. Green's room. The trial of the battery case resulted in a hung jury, last Monday, ten of the jurors standing out for acquittal and only two for conviction.

I want a place where I can lie down and enjoy a quiet rest."

This little speech was punctuated with numerous "hics," which accounted plainly for the cause of the young veteran's tired feeling.

"All right, sir. You shall have the softest bunk in the house," replied Balliff Appel, who was acting desk sergeant, as he booked the soldier for lodging.

"Thank you, sir, thank you," said the tall private with another salute. As an officer was leading him to the guest chamber reserved for tired soldiers, the husky volunteer turned to the bailiff again with the exclamation, "Please don't make my bill more than $3. Cap'n; $3 is all my salary will stand for one little nap."

"Oh, don't worry about that," replied the patriotic balliff. "We never charge heroes of the Spanish war anything for lodgings."

"Now I lay me," murmured the private as 'Jaller Collins tucked him snugly in his little bed.

FOR HOUSE-STEALING.

Dr. Naumann of Santa Monica Again Arrested.

It is not often that a man occupies the unique position of being arrested for stealing a house, but such is the queer situation of Dr. Naumann of Santa Monica. Several months ago he was first arrested in connection with the case, the charge then being grand larceny. He was examined before Judge Wells of Santa Monica and through some technicality the case was dismissed.

The trouble originally arose over the fact that the doctor wished to borrow some money. To secure the money he pledged six lots situated in South Santa Monica, together with the houses and all other improvements thereon. Time went on, and he failed to redeem the property. Finally he was served with notice to vacaté. He vacated, but before doing so, tore down one of the houses and sold the lumber for $20.

STAMPS ON STOCK CERTIFICATES. Internal Revenue Collector Treat has received a decision from Commissioner Scott in relation to bankruptcy stock which will be of interest to stock brokers. The Commissioner rules that, "Where there is a single and distinct transaction of the sale or transfer of stock, and requisite stamps are affixed to any of the instruments used therein, then no further tax is imposed, but where certificates of stock are borrowed or transferred or given imposed, but where certificates of stock are borrowed or transferred or given to the buyer in lieu of stock actually sold, and afterward the certificates of stock so sold are received and another transfer made by the company which issued the stock to the party who sold or gave the borrowed stock then there are two separate and distinct transactions, each requiring the proper stamp tax to be paid. Further, that all powers of attorney embodied in the assigning or transfer of stock certificates are required to be stamped at the rate of 25 cents each."

Then began another decline, which with little interruption continued until July 1, 1897, when the figure was 66,932, the lowest point reached in fifty years, having been October 1, 1896, when it was 56,803. In the summer of 1897 another reaction set in, and since that time the figures have grown, until October 1, of this year, they reached 75,662. clews's views. Henry clews presents these views of the general situation, including politics:

"Just now speculators are putting unfavorable constructions upon the drift of politics, mainly to suit their own ends. It is to their advatnage to frighten timid holders of stocks. The vital point of the next election, however, will be the sound-money vote, and there is happily no prospect of its diminution. On the contrary, it is probable that the next Congress will show both branches of the Legislature to be on the side of sound money; and the annual political scare on this issue is likely to be of much less consequence than usual.

"Perhaps the most unfavorable factor in the outlook is the price of wheat. 78 cents for September contracts in New York against 95 cents a year ago. Farmers are in consequence holding back supplies to the detriment of railroad earnings. This, however, is only a temporary element, as wheat must come forward later in large quantities to meet foreign demands, and if at improved prices so much the better for the West are large. A good deal of

to meet foreign demands, and if at improved prices so much the better for the West are large. A good deal of comment is also heard about cotton having touched the lowest price on record. Owing to the reduced cost of production in the new districts, which how grow a large proportion of the crop, this is not so serious matter as appears. In some districts the excessively low price will be severely felt, but the increasing diversification of industry in the South is proving an offect, and in the newer regions the large rop means fair prosperity. Cottongrowing is conducted on such peculiar economic conditions that large crops and low prices do not always mean the same effects as in the case of other crops.

SAN PEDRO, Oct. 18.—[Regular Correspondence.] The schooner Sadie, which is now at the San Pedro Lumber Company's dock, has as part of the freight of lumber for the Wilmington Transportation Company. This lumber is part of it intended for use in the construction of a steam vessel which that company will build at Mormon Island. A period of several months will be required for her construction.

The feeling is that this would commit the city more completely than ever before to the mercles of private water ownership, as the San Pasqual company is a private corporation, pure and simple, while the old water companies were organized on the cooperative plan. There is a call for a thorough ventilation of the situation. Meanwhile the city's newly engaged hylaulic egineer is employed on his plans or new works.

Congressman Castle's Victous Tirade

Counterfeit Money.

ANAHEIM, Oct. 18,—[Regular Correspondence.] At a fusion rally held in this city last night, Congressman Castle reiterated his charges of corruption against the administration and delivered a tirade of abuse. He wound up his talk with the declaration that Cuba had been stocked with provisions in order that United States soldiers might lie in camp and rot while a long siege progressed and quartermasters, the sons of favorite millionaires, filled the pockets of monopolists. Crime, he concluded, worse than treason, had been committed. County Republican candidates were attacked viciously. It is evidently the plan of the fusionists to make a hot campaign on lines of assertion without proof, from now on to election day.

Considerable counterfeit money is reported in circulation in the city. Nickels and dimes have been put out in number during the past few days.

The city schools opened yesterday, with attendance considerably increased over last year.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 18.—[Regular Correspondence.] The aspect of affairs in San Diego has distinctly changed for the better. Since the cool weather began there has been a general waking up, and there are a number of enterprises on foot of gieat importance. The force of men at work on the Santa Fé wharf, are enlarging that structure for the accommodation of the new steamship line. New tracks are to be laid, the footwalks narrowed to make room for rails, and the big warehouses will soon be commenced. Pile driving has been steadily continued until now the wharf is much larger and stronger than ever before. Hardly inferior in importance to this is the laying of the city's new distributing system by the Southern Californa Mountan Water Company. The laying of pipe began yesterday, following in the wake of a gang of men who are tearing up the old electric rails on D street and laying new ones. While the street is thus torn up the pipes will be laid, to avoid confusion in future. The pipe is ten-inch, and will run up D to Fifth, and thence down Fifth, following the tracks. Fifth, and thence down Fifth, following the tracks.

Private building is also active. A number of fine dwellings are going up in various parts of the city, and alterations and improvements to business blocks are being made. The feeling among merchants is one of great confidence. Advices received by the hotels, especially Hotel del Coronado, are to the effect that a greater number of eastern people will visit San Diego this winter than ere before. Rooms are being engaged now for the winter. This is regarded as the precursor to activity in the real estate market, and consequent work by carpenters and masons in building new homes, THAT STOLEN YACHT.

Victor Hopf, owner of the yacht Esterel, which was stolen from San Pedro on October 5, arrived yesterday to take Lund back for examination. Hopf was appointed a deputy sheriff for that purpose. Lund was alone. He alleges that he was alone during the whole trip. He asseverates that he started out for a fishing trip, without any desire to steal the yacht, and was blown far down the coast and out of his course. The officers found a quantity of chili peppers, panoche and other Mexican products in his cabin, indicating that the vessel has really been down the coast. Both Chier Russell and Mr. Hopf are convinced that there were one or more accomplices, as it would have been almost impossible for Lund to have navigated the yacht for thirteen days alone. THAT STOLEN YACHT.

CITY CENSUS. The Board of Aldermen last night authorized the taking of a census of the city, at an estimated cost of $200. This action is taken at the instance of the Chamber of Commerce, which, after investigation, believes that the city's population is mucn greater than has been generally supposed. The directory recently compiled contains 8084 names, which, computed at the ratio adopted by statisticians, would give this city a population of between 24,000 and 28,000.

During the past year many carloads of household furniture have arrived from the East, but the movement has been so quiet that little notice was taken of it. On the other hand, whenever any person has left the city, the fact has been widely announced. The Chamber of Commerce is anxious to overcome this impression by proving that the population has been steadily on the increase, and at a very respectable rate.

City Council Discusses the Lighting Question.

POMONA, Oct. 18.—[Regular Correspondence.] The trustees met this afternoon and discussed the light question. Trustee Landon verbally reported on the visit of the special committee to Redainds. The Southern California Power Company proposed to supply electricity, not less than fifty-horse power, for $30 per horse power per annum, contract to cover not less then five years. This was considered a rather heavy contract for the city to swing, hence no deficontract to cover not less then five years. This was considered a rather heavy contract for the city to swing, hence no definite action was taken. The special Light Committee were given power to continue present contract or not. A formal notice has been served on the San Ansento Light Company to cease further service for the city after tomorrow night. If the committee see fit to refuse to renew the contract, the city streets will be in darkness. Trustees Raynes and Himman are in favor of continuing the present contract till other arrangements can be made, while Trustees Waters, Patterson and Landon all favor cutting off the present lights because they are so unsatisfactory.

S. D. Moles appeared before the board and petitioned to have the night sprinkling, which has been discontinued on account of economy, renewed. Trustee Raynes favored it, while Trustee Landon fetl that in the interest of economy and of fairness to taxpayers who are not on sprinkled streets, that the night work should not be resumed. Remarks passed back and forth very rapidly but the motion which was made for the resumption of sprinkling received only two votes to three against it.

WHITNEY BUYS MEDDLER. Proposes to Breed Horses as Well as to Race Them.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.] NEW YORK, Oct. 18 .- The purcha of the great stallion Meddler by Wil-liam C. Whitney for $49,000 calls at-tention to the plans for breeding horses. In an interview Mr. Whitney said:
"The purchase of Meddler means that we shall breed horses as well as race them. I at first thought that we should not breed at all, but some time ago I decided to raise race horses. We do not propose going into breeding upon a large scale. We shall have about twenty brood mares. I already have purchased four, Tulla Blackburn, who was a great race horse; madame Reel, Helen Mar and another. Meddler will be the head of the stud for the present.

he the head of the stud for the present. We shall race Jean Beraud for a could ple of years longer and then shall very likely retire him and Plaudit as well. "Of course we shall try to maintain a high standard for our stable and we shall want to win some races. If we cannot win them with the horses we breed ourselves we shall continue to buy them. I suspect that we shall buy a good many of our winners if we have any.

"At first I was not inclined to think much of Meddler. He never ran in but three races which he won, and he is admittedly the best two-year-old in England. But the death of his owner cut short his racing career. He has been in the stud ever since. I did not think he was the best stallion in America. I thought that Hanover was such been in the stud ever since. I did not think he was the best stallion in America. I thought that Hanover was such a high-class horse that it would be difficult to find a better.

"When I saw Meddler I changed my mind. I think that he is the handsomest horse that I ever saw. He looks like a race horse. He is very highly bred on the dam side. His dam, granddam and grand-grand-dam won the Oaks successively. We shall breed here on my Long Island farm. It is better adapted for the purpose than my Lennox farm. I have a place in Alken, S. C., and we shall winter the horses there. I think that high-bred horses are like men and women—that they enjoy being out of doors as much as possible, they like sunlight and change of air. When we go South we shall take the horses with us. I do not contemplate buying another farm in the South for breeding purposes. I may decide to do so later. It depends upon how things turn out. I want to have horses where I am, so that I can see them grow up under my eyes."

DYSPEPSIA. To Gain Flesh, to Sleep Well, to Digestion Mean, Make a Test of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Interesting Experience of an Indianapolis Gentleman.

No trouble is more contains or how many understood than nervous dyspepsia. People having it think that their nerves are to blame, are surprised that they are not cured by nerve medicines and spring remedies; the real seat of mischief is lost sight of: the stomach is the origin to be looked pain whatever in the stomach, nor perhaps any of the usual symptoms of stomach weakness. Nervous dyspepsia shows itself not in the stomach so much as in nearly every other organ; in some cases the heart palpitates and is irregular; in others the kidneys are affected; in others the bowels are constipated, with headaches; still others are troubled with loss of flesh and ap ers are troubled with loss of fiesh and appetite, with the accumulation of gas, sour risings and heartburn.

Mr. A. W. Sharper of No. 61 Prospect street, Indianapolis, Ind., writes as follows:
"A motive of pure gratitude prompts me to write these few lines regarding the new and valuable medicine, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I have been a sufferer from nervous dyspepsia for the last four years; have used various patent medicines and other remedies without any favorable result. They sometimes gave temporary relief until the effects of the medicine wore off. I attributed this to my sedentary habits, being a book-keeper with little physical exercise, but I am glad to state that the tablets have overcome all these obstacles, for I have gained in fiesh, sleep better, and am better in every way. The above is written not for notoriety, but is based on actual facts." Respectfully yours, his patients lovingly called him.

Francis Leader Haynes was born in Pennsylvania in 1850. When 15 years of age, he had a long and serious illness. Through the advice of his attending physician, Dr. D. Haynes Agnew, who afterward was his preceptor and life-long friend, he entered the University of Pennsylvania, from which institution, at the age of 20 years, he received the degree of Doctor of Medicine and Bachelor of Philosophy. Immediately upon his graduation, he became interne in the Philadelphia Episcopal Hospital, where he remained for eighteen months, and with this institution he was afterward connected as visiting physician.

Dr. Haynes began general private practice before he was 22 years of age, and, young as he was, almost immediately achieved success. He practiced medicine continuously and successfully in Philadelphia until May. 1887, when he removed to Los Angeles on account of ill health, hoping the change to a milder climate might be beneficial. He was elected professor of gynecology in the Medical College of the University of Southern California, and notwithstanding his continued ill health, he soon became recognized as one of the most skillful and scientific Surgeons and physicians on the Pacific Coat. In surgery, he was the apostle of antisepsis in Southern California, and by his untiring efforts did much to introduce and encourage here surgical listerism, or surgical cleanliness. to introduce and encourage here sur-gical listerism, or surgical cleanliness.
